(2) Asset Management Status

(i) Summary of Results for the Fiscal Period ended July 2018 (The 26th Period)

A. Background of JLF

JLF is the first J- REIT dedicated to "logistics properties" with real estate and other assets used for logistic facilities primarily in the Tokyo Metropolitan, Kinki, Chubu and Kyushu areas as investment targets. Based on the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations (Act No. 198 of 1951; including revisions enforced thereafter) (hereinafter, "the Investment Trust Act"), JLF was founded on February 22, 2005 with Mitsui & Co., Logistics Partners Ltd. as the founding planner, and was listed on the REIT section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange, Inc. (hereinafter, "Tokyo Stock Exchange") on May 9 of the same year (security code: 8967).

As of July 31, 2018 (the end of the 26th Period), JLF had a total of 46 properties under management with total acquisition price of 270,855 million yen and total assets of 263,254 million yen.

B. Investment Environment and Management Performance

During the 26th fiscal period under review, the Japanese economy continued to grow moderately, mainly due to an increase in capital expenditure on the back of solid corporate earnings, a rise in exports due to the steady growth of overseas economies and an increase in consumer spending in response to a steady improvement in employment and income.

In the J-REIT market, the underlying trend of individual investors was net selling because new listings and capital increase through public offering occurred one after another at the beginning of 2018. The outflow of funds from the investment trust sector, which had continued since 2017, also remained unchanged. However, overseas investors were significant net purchasers in 2018, which absorbed the selling pressure from individual investors and the investment trust sector. As a result, the Tokyo Stock Exchange REIT Index showed solid performance.

In the logistics properties acquisition market, real estate companies and funds that began investing in logistics properties in earnest were observed against the backdrop of the continuously favorable capital procurement environment. Given that active transactions mainly by these investors are continuing, the market capitalization rate is on a moderate downward trend.

In the logistics properties leasing market, while the supply of new facilities remains at high levels nationwide, new demand exceeded new supply in the second quarter of 2018, and the vacancy rate declined. Even in the Kinki District, where the vacancy rate is relatively high because of a large supply, vacancies in existing properties are steadily decreasing, showing signs of improvement in the supply-demand balance. Demand for logistics facilities remains robust on the back of the expanding e-commerce market, but there are differences in the strength of rent levels depending on the areas and individual properties.

Under these circumstances, JLF emphasized guaranteed cash flows based on the characteristics of individual real estate such as locations, building specifications and other aspects through activities in the real estate market as well as JLF's own activities. JLF also worked to increase dividends per unit through continuous property acquisition by creating acquisition opportunities outside the market, taking advantage of the sponsor network and the knowledge of the asset management company. During the period, JLF acquired Kashiwa Logistics Center II (building) for 1,295 million yen and Sendaiko-kita Logistics Center for 1,600 million yen in March 2018, mainly by promoting JLF's own activities, and acquired Toda Logistics Center for 2,052 million yen (planned) (Note 1) and the purchase option for Ichikawa Logistics Center III for 3,850 million yen (planned) (Note 2) in June 2018. Through these activities, JLF has achieved property acquisition at a higher yield than activities in the real estate market.

(Note 1) The sale and purchase agreement for Toda Logistics Center qualifies as a forward commitment as stipulated in the Comprehensive Guidelines for Supervision of Financial Instruments Business Operators, etc. established by the Financial Services Agency.

(Note 2) Ichikawa Logistics Center III qualifies as a forward commitment as stipulated in the Comprehensive Guidelines for Supervision of Financial Instruments Business Operators, etc. established by the Financial Services Agency. The planned acquisition price indicates a price based on the assumption that it will be acquired on March 1, 2019.

C. Capital Procurement

In pursuit of "growth" and "stability" in sustainable dividends per unit, JLF aims to reduce debt financing costs by taking advantage of the current low interest rate environment while seeking to achieve stability in its financial foundation. JLF also pays attention to the diversification of repayment dates and the extension of the debt financing period in preparation for the risk that interest rates will rise in the future. During the period, JLF refinanced loans (2,500 million yen) that came due in February 2018 and achieved a reduction in debt financing costs and an extension of the debt financing period. In addition, associated with the maturity of some existing commitment line agreements, JLF has decided to increase the limit by 2,000 million yen for responding to the mobilized acquisition of properties. As a result, the total limit of commitment line agreements has risen to 17,500 million yen (Note 1).

As of the end of the 26th fiscal period, the total amount of interest-bearing debt stood at 117,700 million yen, and LTV (Loan to Value) was 44.7% based on total assets (Note 1) and 34.1% based on appraisal value (Note 2), thus JLF continued to conduct stable financial operations. JLF intends to maintain its financial policy of securing a sound balance sheet and adequate on-hand liquidity.

(Note 1) Based on a resolution during the period, JLF has created new commitment line agreements that will be applied from the next period.

(Note 2) Total assets-based LTV = Interest-bearing debt / total assets × 100 (figures are rounded off to one decimal place)

(Note 3) Appraisal value-based LTV = Interest-bearing debt / appraisal value × 100 (figures are rounded off to one decimal place)

Credit rating of JLF at the end of the 26th Period

Credit Rating Agency	Rating
Rating and Investment Information, Inc. (R&I)	Issuer rating	AA (Outlook: Negative)
	Long-term bond rating	#2 nd unsecured investment corporation bonds #3 rd unsecured investment corporation bonds #5 th unsecured investment corporation bonds AA
Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR)	Issuer rating	AA+ (Outlook: Negative)

D. Performance and Distributions

As a result of the above, JLF posted operating revenue of 9,081 million yen, operating income of 4,584 million yen, ordinary income of 4,145 million yen and net income of 4,115 million yen.

Based on a special taxation measure under Article 67, Item 15 (Act on Special Measures Concerning Taxation; Act No. 26 of 1957; including revisions enforced thereafter) (hereafter, the “Special Taxation Measures Act”) that allows the maximum amount of distribution of earnings to be treated as a tax-deductible expense, JLF decided to distribute to unitholders the full amount of net income excluding fractions below one yen of the amount of dividends per investment unit. As a result, JLF’s dividend per investment unit was 4,503 yen.

Moreover, JLF has undertaken a comprehensive examination of performance of investment unit price, financial condition and market circumstance, etc. Consequently, JLF has implemented its investment unit buyback program under a discretionary investment contract with a broker and let the broker purchase from the market, Tokyo Stock Exchange, as well as cancelled all acquired investment units, in the pursuit of higher capital efficiency and returns to unitholders. The total number and amount of investment units that JLF acquired and cancelled are 11,000 investment units (1.2% of the total number of issued investment units (before this buyback program)), and 2,436 million yen in the fiscal period ended July 31, 2018.

(ii) Outlook for the Next Fiscal Period

A. Recognition of the Environment

The Japanese economy has benefited from a favorable environment surrounding consumer spending, including a gradual increase in nominal wages reflecting the tightening labor supply. In addition, given that corporate earnings are expected to remain solid and that companies maintain strong motivation for capital expenditure, the Japanese economy is expected to continue to grow moderately. However, given many uncertainties over political developments in the United States and Europe, particularly the direction of the trade policy of the United States, it is necessary to be mindful of the risk that turmoil in the international financial market, a steep rise in crude oil prices and the sharp appreciation of the yen will have a negative impact on the Japanese economy.

In the logistics properties acquisition market, real estate companies, which have newly entered the market, in addition to the existing players such as J-REITs, private REITs and private funds, are expected to maintain a strong willingness to invest because of the outlook that the low interest rate environment will continue, and the market capitalization rate is likely to maintain a downward trend.

In the logistics properties leasing market, because the supply of large new facilities is expected to continue, the vacancy rate may rise in some areas and properties, and these trends need to be cautiously monitored, including their impact on rents.

Given this situation, JLF will continue to promote property acquisition with a focus on guaranteed cash flows based on the characteristics of individual real estate, such as locations and building specifications, through activities in the real estate market as well as JLF’s own activities. In addition, JLF will strive to increase dividends per unit through the continuous acquisition of properties by creating acquisition opportunities outside the market, taking advantage of the sponsor network and the knowledge of the asset management company. JLF believes that it is critically important to achieve external growth with balanced investment strategies involving not only large-scale multi-tenant logistics facilities that have been increasingly supplied to the market recently, but also highly versatile single logistics facilities that can accommodate a range of tenant requirements in terms of location advantages and facility specifications. JLF will continue to pursue “growth” and “stability” in dividends per unit by solidly managing its portfolio through the expansion of the asset size based on the concept above.

B. Future Asset Management Policies and Issues to be Addressed

In such an investment environment, JLF will pursue asset management aimed at achieving stable earnings over the medium to long term based on the following policies.

(a) Operational management of portfolio properties

- Leasing management

In renewing existing lease contracts, JLF will seek ways to ensure a stable revenue flow, including promoting the option of shifting to a long-term lease contract. When a tenant decides to move out JLF will perform leasing activities based on this policy so that leases are maintained without any discontinuity and revenues are secured by leveraging its sponsor network, intermediary companies well versed in logistics properties and in tenant information for respective regions, as well as the network of the asset management company.

The properties currently held by JLF have an average leasing period of 5.6 years when calculated on a weighted average basis using annual rent, indicating that JLF will continue to earn stable income.

- Strengthening of tenant relations

JLF will promote the improvement of the overall satisfaction level of tenants by maintaining close contact with existing tenants. Specifically, JLF responds to tenant’s needs for expanding rental space and improving the property conditions of existing logistics facilities, making functional improvements in line with the needs of tenants and the industry and implementing renewals.

- Appropriate property maintenance and additional investment

JLF conducts repairs and renovations of properties owned by keeping related costs at a certain level. In addition, JLF strives to maintain an optimal level of maintenance management of its properties by selecting appropriate property management companies that can provide efficient management in line with the characteristics of each property, improving the management quality of the asset management company, and standardizing various procedures.

Furthermore, JLF considers additional investments if necessary, taking into consideration tenant requests, the leasing needs of facilities, floor area ratios, and other factors in determining portfolio properties that have locational advantages in the leasing market and those that can gain higher competitiveness through building/facility renewal while identifying properties that no longer offer economic benefits due to the increased maintenance cost burden caused by deterioration over time.

(b) Acquisition of new properties

- Sourcing of property information

Unlike other asset types, logistics properties have limited transaction volumes in the market. Therefore, JLF believes that collecting a broad range of information and making precise investment decisions based on the information gathered lead to achieve high competitiveness. In order to avoid unnecessary price competition, JLF will work to obtain early access to property information and promote negotiated transactions by leveraging the extensive networks of sponsors and the information sourcing channels of the asset management company.

- Specifications of properties for acquisition

When acquiring properties, JLF will make investment decisions with a focus on the location and versatility of properties which are essential factors in pursuing stable and long-term management of logistics properties. As a general rule, JLF avoids acquiring, in particular, properties with unique structural and facility features that suit only certain types of tenants in certain industries. Rather, JLF’s most important criterion for making investment decisions is versatility of specifications that can satisfy broad logistical demand.

- Diversification of portfolio

To minimize fluctuations in revenue arising from factors such as a tenant’s request to lower rent or a tenant moving out of a property, JLF acquires properties that will help reduce risk of over-concentration of tenants by avoiding excessive dependency on single tenant or industry of tenants and diversifying lease period expirations.

(c) Financial strategy

- JLF sets its highest priority on the sustainable growth of dividends per unit while making sure to maintain a conservative interest-bearing debt ratio in pursuing financial activities, including raising funds through bank loans and increasing capital through public offerings. When pursuing interest-bearing debt financing, JLF will diversify funding sources and repayment due dates. Furthermore, with regard to tenant leasehold and security deposits, JLF will use such deposits to partially fund property acquisitions to exercise efficient cash management.

In addition, JLF will consider the buyback and cancellation of its own investment units as required as part of its capital policy in order to improve capital efficiency and the return to unitholders.

Accounting for property taxes

Property tax, city planning tax, depreciable asset tax, and the like levied on real estate assets and other properties are accounted for as expenses related to rent business at the amounts corresponding to the fiscal period.

The amount of property tax, etc. paid to the seller as part of settlement for acquisition of real estate and real estate in trust is not accounted for as expenses but included in acquisition cost of the respective real estate, etc. In the 26th Period, the property tax, etc. included in the acquisition cost of real estate was 23,822 thousand yen. In the 25th Period, the property tax, etc. included in the acquisition cost of real estate was 38,537 thousand yen.

(v) Hedge accounting method

A. Hedge accounting method

Deferred hedge accounting is applied.

However, specially designated accounting is applied to transactions that meet the requirements for specially designated accounting for interest swaps.

B. Hedging method and hedging objective

Hedging method: Interest rate swap transactions

Hedged items: Interest on borrowings

C. Hedging policy

JLF utilizes derivative transactions to hedge the risks specified in the Articles of Incorporation of the Investment Corporation based on its risk management policy.

D. Method of assessing hedge effectiveness

Hedge effectiveness is assessed by making a comparison between the cumulative total of cash flow fluctuations attributable to hedged items and the cumulative total of cash flow fluctuations attributable to the means of hedging, and examining the ratio of these totals of fluctuations. However, the assessment of effectiveness is not conducted for transactions that meet the requirements for specially designated accounting for interest swaps.

(vi) Scope of cash and cash equivalents in the statement of cash flows

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash on hand, cash in trust, deposits and deposits in trust withdrawable on demand, and short-term investments, which are easily convertible into cash, with low risk of price fluctuation and with a maturity of less than three months.

(vii) Other significant basis for preparation of financial statements

A. Accounting for trust beneficiary right for real estate, etc. as trust asset

With regard to trust beneficiary right for real estate, etc. held as trust asset, all assets and liabilities as well as all revenue and expense items associated with trust assets are accounted for under the respective account items of the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Retained Earnings.

Of the trust assets accounted for under the respective account items, the following items with significance are separately indicated on the Balance Sheet.

(a) Cash and deposits in trust

- (b) Buildings in trust, Structures in trust, Tools, furniture and fixtures in trust and Land in trust
  - (c) Tenant leasehold and security deposits in trust
- B. Method of accounting for consumption taxes
Transactions subject to consumption taxes are recorded at amounts exclusive of consumption taxes.

(Accounting standards not yet applied)

- “Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition” (ASBJ Statement No. 29 on March 30, 2018, Accounting Standards Board of Japan)
- “Implementation Guidance on Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition” (ASBJ Guidance No. 30 on March 30, 2018, Accounting Standards Board of Japan)

(1) Overview

The International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) in the United States have jointly developed comprehensive accounting standards for revenue recognition and published “Revenue from Contracts with Customers” (IFRS 15 in IASB and Topic 606 in FASB) in May 2014. Given the situation where IFRS 15 will be applied in a fiscal year beginning on or after January 1, 2018 and that Topic 606 will be applied in a fiscal year beginning after December 15, 2017, the Accounting Standards Board of Japan (ASBJ) has developed comprehensive accounting standards for revenue recognition and published them together with the Implementation Guidance. The basic policy of ASBJ when it developed the accounting standards for revenue recognition was to specify accounting standards, with the incorporation of the basic principles of IFRS 15 as a starting point, from the perspective of comparability between financial statements, which is one of the benefits of maintaining compatibility with IFRS 15. The basic policy also stipulates that if there is an item to which we should give consideration, such as practices that have been conducted thus far in Japan, an alternative treatment will be added to the extent to which it will not undermine the comparability.

(2) Scheduled date of application

The above standards will be applied from the beginning of the fiscal period ending January 31, 2022.

(3) Impact of applying the accounting standards

The level of the impact on the financial statements of applying the “Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition” and the like is currently under review.

[Financial Instruments]

(i) Matters concerning the status of financial instruments

A. Policies on financial instruments

JLF procures funds mainly by additionally issuing investment units, borrowing funds, or issuing investment corporation bonds for the purpose of securing funds required for acquisition of assets and repair of assets, payments of dividends, and operation of JLF or repayment of debts.

When procuring funds through interest-bearing debt, JLF comprehensively takes into account the conditions in the capital market and the financial environment, the capital structure of JLF and lease terms with tenants, impact on the existing unitholders, and other factors, expects the future changes in economic and social conditions, and selects an effective means of procuring funds in terms of long or short loan periods and fixed or variable interest rates.

JLF uses derivative transactions for the purpose of hedging interest rate fluctuation risk and other risks and does not enter into derivative transactions for speculative or trading purpose.

JLF invests surplus funds in securities and monetary claims with a focus on safety and liquidity, and does not engage into speculative investment.

B. Description of financial instruments and associated risks, and the risk management system

Deposits are one means of investing the surplus funds of JLF and are exposed to credit risk such as the bankruptcy of deposit financial institutions. JLF works to mitigate credit risk by shortening the period of deposits and dealing with deposit financial institutions with high credit ratings.

Loans payable and investment corporation bonds are used primarily for acquisition of assets and repayments of debts, and are exposed to liquidity risk at the time of repayment/redemption. JLF strives to mitigate liquidity risk by diversifying lenders, repayment periods, and means of funds procurement and by securing liquidity on hand by setting commitment lines and manages liquidity risk by preparing cash flow management sheet and other methods.

As some loans are borrowed on variable interest rates, they are exposed to the risk of higher interest payment. JLF works to mitigate the risk of higher interest payment by maintaining a lower interest-bearing debt ratio as well as heightening the ratio of loan with long-term fixed interest rate.

Variable interest rate borrowings are exposed to the risk of interest rate fluctuations. Derivative transactions are used to hedge the risk of fluctuations in the interest rate payable for a portion of the borrowings. See “(v) Hedge accounting method” above under “Summary of Significant Accounting Policies” for details about the hedging method, hedged items, hedging policy, and method of assessing hedge effectiveness, etc. in hedge accounting.

C. Description of financial instruments

Fair value of financial instruments comprises value based on market prices or rationally calculated value in the case the market prices are not available. As certain assumptions are applied in performing calculation of such value, the value may differ if different assumptions are used. In addition, the contract value of derivative transactions, which is presented in the following section entitled “Notes to Derivatives” is not an exact representation of market risk attributable to derivative transactions.

(ii) Matters concerning fair value, etc. of financial instruments

Amounts on the Balance Sheet, fair value and their difference as of July 31, 2018 are as follows;

	Amount on the balance sheet	Fair value	Difference

*Net amounts are shown for credits and liabilities attributable to derivative transactions, and the total of the items that constitute net liabilities is shown in negative.

(Note 1) Matters concerning the method of calculating the market value of financial instruments and derivative transactions.

Assets

(1) Cash and deposits, (2) Cash and deposits in trust

The fair value of these is presented same as the book value, as they are settled in the short-term period and accordingly fair value is almost equal to book value.

Liabilities

(1) Current portion of long-term loans payable, (3) Long-term loans payable

The fair value of some long-term loans with floating rate is almost equal to their book value because applicable interest rates of such loans are revised on a periodical basis. As such, the fair value of these loans is presented based on the relevant book value.

The fair value of loans with fixed interest rates is calculated by discounting such loans at rates that would be applied if new loans with the same amount are borrowed under similar terms and conditions. (However, long-term loans that are subject to specially designated accounting for interest swaps are calculated by discounting such loans at reasonably estimated rates that would be applied if new loans with the same amount are borrowed under similar terms and conditions.

(2) Investment corporation bond

When quoted market prices are available, the fair value is determined based on the reference value issued by the Japan Securities Dealers Association.

When quoted market prices are not available, the fair value is determined based on the present value calculated by discounting the total amount of principal and interest using a discount rate that reflects the remaining period and credit risk of the corresponding investment corporation bond.

(Note 1) Listed properties are primarily used as logistics facilities.

(Note 2) Acquisition price and book value are indicated with figures below one million yen omitted.

(Note 3) Appraisal value at end of period indicates appraisal value calculated based on the balance sheet date defined by Tanizawa Sōgō Appraisal Co., Ltd., Daiwa Real Estate Appraisal Co., Ltd. Japan Real Estate Institute and CBRE, Inc. as the date of value estimate in accordance with the asset evaluation methods and standards specified under the Articles of Incorporation of JLF as well as the rules set forth by the Investment Trusts Association, Japan.

(Note 4) % of the portfolio represents the ratio of the acquisition price of each piece of real estate, etc. to the total acquisition price of real estate, etc. owned by JLF, and is indicated by rounding off to the first decimal place.

(Note 5) The figure is calculated by deducting the costs associated with write-offs and demolition of the former building in July 2013 (603 million yen), and adding the amount stated in the construction contract relating to the building after redevelopment (including the construction contract for additional works) (6,230 million yen) to the sale price stated in the initial sales contract (2,266 million yen).

(Note 6) Figures for co-ownership are indicated.

Shinonome Logistics Center: 47%

Narashino Logistics Center II: 90%

Ichikawa Logistics Center II: 90%

Shin-Koyasu Logistics Center: 51%

(Note 7) The figure is the sum of the acquisition prices on March 27, 2012 and February 6, 2017.

(Note 8) JLF acquired land on September 20, 2013, and the building on March 1, 2018.

(Note 9) The figure is the sum of the acquisition prices on September 20, 2013 and March 1, 2018.

(Note 10) The figure is calculated by deducting the costs associated with write-offs and demolition of the former building in July 2009 (291 million yen), and adding the amount stated in the construction contract relating to the Warehouse III (2,437 million yen) to the sale price stated in the initial sales contract (7,617 million yen).

(Note 11) The figure is calculated by adding the construction cost relating to the redevelopment (2,325 million yen) to the sale price stated in the initial sales contract (685 million yen).

(Note 12) The figure is the sum of the acquisition prices on October 8, 2013 and November 4, 2014.

(Note 13) The figure is calculated by adding the acquisition price for the newly constructed building by redevelopment (2,670 million yen) to the sale price stated in the initial sales contract (830 million yen).

(Note 14) The Purchase Agreement regarding the properties to be acquired, (as for Ichikawa Logistics Center III, Fixed-term Lease Contract with a Termination Clause with the grants to JLF an option to purchase the property) corresponds to the forward commitment, etc. stipulated in the "Comprehensive Guidelines for Supervision of Financial Instruments Business Operators, etc." set by the Financial Services Agency.

(Note 15) JLF concluded the purchase agreement on September 26, 2017. However, the property is a development project, and the building is still under construction. The date of its delivery will, in principle, be the day after one year from the date of the registration of the preservation of ownership of the building.

- (Note 16) The figure indicates the sale price stated in the initial sales contract. Because the sales contract stipulates that unless a lease contract in the form and with content that satisfy JLF (hereinafter the “Qualified Lease Contract” in this Note 15) is concluded for this entire property by the date of delivery of the property or unless any other effective Qualified Lease Contract is concluded as of the date of delivery, 124 million yen shall be deducted from the sale price, and such sale price may change in the future.
- (Note 17) As of the date of the appraisal, the building has not yet been completed, and thus the appraisal value of the property was calculated by using “Appraisal of Uncompleted Buildings” stipulated in the Real Estate Appraisal Standards. As a result, the figure is an appraisal value based on the assumption that the building is a property after completion that has been completed as planned, has received the delivery of the inspection certificate and has undergone registration.
- (Note 18) This property is a development project, and the building is still under construction. The date of delivery of the property will be a date no later than the date on which one year has elapsed from the date of application for building preservation registration and shall be a date designated separately by JLF (or if a date has been agreed separately by JLF and JA Mitsui Leasing Tatemono Co., Ltd., such agreed date).

(Note 1) The total leasable area is the registered floor area less any area of space not considered for rent. With regard to items for which a more accurate leasable area can be confirmed based on the building floor plan attached to the lease contract, the area recognized to be leasable is indicated as per such floor plan. The same applies for each description under "5. Reference Information".

(Note 2) The leased area represents the total area as part of the total leasable area of the area of the building indicated in the lease contract of each properties. It is possible in each lease contract that the portion not included in the leasable area is part of the area for rent concerning the building provided in the lease contract. The same applies for each description under "5. Reference Information."

(Note 3) As for the PML (Probable Maximum Loss) figures, Shimizu Corporation has prepared an earthquake risk research report with regard to portfolio properties owned by JLF. Such report, however, does not guarantee the contents provided and simply reflects the opinion of the research institution. PML is the projected loss ratio in an earthquake. While no consistent, clear definition of PML is available, it is the ratio of projected loss amount against building replacement cost for which the loss value and the probability rate against large and small earthquakes that could possibly occur in a period of 475 years were computed and statistically applied. The calculations are performed based on onsite research on each respective property, assessment of building status, checking consistency with the floor plan, ground conditions at each site, regional factors, and structural conditions. Loss herein refers to physical damage only, and does not take into consideration secondary damage to people's lives and other facilities in the vicinity. Damage factors include structural damage and internal and external physical damage, and do not consider fire on site caused by an earthquake or fire spreading from another facility.

(Note 4) Earthquake insurance is secured as the PML value exceeds 20%.

(Note 5) Figures for co-ownership are indicated.

Shinonome Logistics Center: 47%
Narashino Logistics Center II: 90%
Ichikawa Logistics Center II: 90%

(iii) Diversification of portfolio

Diversification of portfolio properties owned by JLF is described below.

A. Ratio by region

Region	Total leasable area (m <sup>2</sup> )	Ratio (%) (Note)	Acquisition price (Millions of yen)	Ratio (%) (Note)
Tokyo Metropolitan Area	881,637.39	69.9	216,846	80.1
Kinki/Chubu/Kyushu Areas	312,802.41	24.8	41,674	15.4
Other Areas	66,305.34	5.3	12,335	4.6
Total	1,260,745.14	100.0	270,855	100.0

(Note) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

B. Ratio by total rentable area (Note 1)

Total rentable area (m <sup>2</sup> )	Number of properties	Ratio (%) (Note 2)	Acquisition price (Millions of yen)	Ratio (%) (Note 2)
Over 30,000 m <sup>2</sup>	18	39.1	187,095	69.1
Over 10,000 m <sup>2</sup> but 30,000 m <sup>2</sup> or less	17	37.0	65,564	24.2
10,000 m <sup>2</sup> or less	11	23.9	18,196	6.7
Total	46	100.0	270,855	100.0

(Note 1) Properties are classified based on total rentable area (100% of total leasable area with respect to co-owned properties) and their portfolio proportions are indicated.

(Note 2) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

C. Ratio by leasehold period

Leasehold period (Residual period)	Leased area (m <sup>2</sup> )	Ratio (%) (Note 1)	Annual rent (Millions of Yen) (Note 2)	Ratio (%) (Note 1)
Over 10 years	161,161.88	13.0	2,238	12.9
Over 5 years but within 10 years	352,657.30	28.5	5,504	31.8
Over 3 years but within 5 years	314,565.00	25.4	3,936	22.8
Within 3 years	409,355.19	33.1	5,620	32.5
Total	1,237,739.37	100.0	17,299	100.0

(Note 1) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

(Note 2) Annual rent represents either annual rent in the lease contract or monthly rent in the lease contract times 12. If the property has multiple tenants, the number is the sum of the all contracts.

(iv) Performance of portfolio properties

The following provides a summary of performance for the 26th Period of real estate, etc. owned by JLF.

The "performance data" for each piece of real estate, etc. provide the following.

- The amounts indicated under "Performance data" are not intended to provide or guarantee future values.
- Amounts are presented with figures below one million yen omitted, and are posted on an accrual basis in principle.
- "Real estate leasing business revenue" includes rent, common area maintenance fees, and income from parking charges, utilities expenses, and other.
- "Taxes and public dues" includes property tax and city planning tax. As a general rule, the obligation to pay property tax and city planning tax comes into effect on January 1 of each year. Such tax payments, however, are not posted as real estate leasing business expenses, as JLF, when settling property and city planning taxes incurred at the time of property acquisition, includes the amount settled as part of the acquisition cost.
- "Repair expenses" may vary when JLF holds properties for a long period of time as such expenses differ from period to period, and, by nature, do not arise on a regular basis.
- "Insurance expenses" posted represents the portion of casualty insurance corresponding to the respective period.
- "Other expenses" includes trust fees.
