(2) Asset Management Status

(i) Summary of Results for the Fiscal Period ended July 2016 (The 22nd Period)

A. Background of JLF

JLF is the first J-REIT dedicated to "logistics properties" with real estate and other assets used for logistic facilities primarily in the Tokyo Metropolitan, Kinki, Chubu and Kyushu areas as investment targets. Based on the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations (Act No. 198 of 1951; including revisions enforced thereafter) (hereinafter, "the Investment Trust Act"), JLF was founded on February 22, 2005 with Mitsui & Co., Logistics Partners Ltd. as the founding planner, and was listed on the REIT section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange, Inc. (hereinafter, "Tokyo Stock Exchange") on May 9 of the same year (security code: 8967). As of the end of the July 2016 (The 22nd Period), JLF had a total of 42 properties under management with total acquisition price of 212,603 million yen and total assets of 209,834 million yen.

B. Investment Environment and Management Performance

During the 22nd fiscal period under review, the Japanese economy as a whole continued to recover moderately, primarily as a result of the gradual increase in capital expenditure based on growth in corporate earnings and strong consumer spending in response to steady improvement in employment and personal income, despite some impact of slower growth in emerging economies on exports and production.

In the logistics properties leasing market, growth in demand for large logistics properties was driven by the demand from third-party logistics (3PL) providers which contracted to combine distribution centers for apparel, drugstores, and the demand from activities of e-commerce businesses including their expansion of new distribution centers. Meanwhile, the supply of large distribution centers particularly in the Tokyo metropolitan area continues at a high level and some properties located in emerging areas where distribution centers did not concentrate in the past have not been leased as expected after completion. As a result, the latest vacancy rate has increased.

In the logistics properties acquisition market, investors both in Japan and abroad were even more eager to invest in logistics properties, since it can secure the yield relatively higher than those on other types of investments, while investment opportunities were decreasing due to monetary easing worldwide. More REITs concentrating their investments on logistics facilities have gone public. As a result, the number of transactions and total value of logistics properties between January and April 2016 have been increasing at an accelerating pace which is faster than that of the same period of the previous year.

Under these circumstances, JLF promoted the acquisition of property at "appropriate price" that JLF considered in order to achieve a sustainable external growth toward the medium-term business plan "Stable + Growth 2.0", which was announced in March 2016, and decided to acquire Shinkiba Logistics Center II, using a sponsor pipeline (Planned acquisition price: 15,270 million yen) (Note). As an effort for continuous internal growth, JLF has started the redevelopment of the Kiyosu Logistics Center, which will be the third round of OBR (Own Book Redevelopment, which means the redevelopment of properties held by JLF on its own). Additionally, JLF has decided to acquire a new building (Kasugai Logistics Center (building)) constructed on the land of Kasugai Logistics Center (land) as the fourth round OBR based on a business agreement with a construction company.

Note: The acquisition of Shinkiba Logistics Center and Kasugai Logistics Center (building) is subject to the forward commitment, etc. in the Comprehensive Guidelines for Supervision of Financial Instruments Business Operators, etc. issued by the Financial Services Agency (hereinafter, the "Forward Commitment, etc.").

C. Capital Procurement

In the fiscal period under review, JLF further diversified its financing methods by issuing investment corporation bonds for 1,700 million yen through private placement (limited to qualified institutional investors) for the first time to repay long-term borrowings that came due. It also prolonged the debt financing period and reduced debt financing costs. Because the acquisition of Shinkiba Logistics Center II is subject to the Forward Commitment, etc., a short-term commitment line with maximum borrowings of 11,000 million yen used to acquire this asset has been established to ensure the means for handling contingencies, such as temporary changes in the market environment that may occur in the future.

As a result, as of the end of the 22nd Period, the total amount of interest-bearing debt stood at 71,700 million yen and the LTV (Loan to Value) (Note) was 26.7%, thus JLF continues to conduct stable financial operations. Furthermore, JLF has maintained the highest-level credit rating among all J-REITs, and intends to continue its financial policy of securing a sound balance sheet and adequate on-hand liquidity.

(Note) LTV = Interest-bearing debt / appraisal value x 100

(Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place)

Credit rating of JLF at the end of the 22nd Period

Credit Rating Agency	Rating
Rating and Investment Information, Inc. (R&I)	Issuer rating	AA (Outlook: Stable)
	Long-term bond rating	#2nd unsecured investment corporation bonds #3rd unsecured investment corporation bonds AA
Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR)	Issuer rating	AA+ (Outlook: Stable)
Moody's Japan K.K. (Moody's)	Issuer rating	A1 (Outlook: Stable)

D. Performance and Distributions

As a result of the above, JLF posted operating revenue of 7,584 million yen, operating income of 3,936 million yen, ordinary income of 3,563 million yen and net income of 3,562 million yen.

Based on a special taxation measure under Article 67, Item 15 (Act on Special Measures Concerning Taxation; Act No. 26 of 1957; including revisions enforced thereafter) (hereafter, the "Special Taxation Measures Act") that allows the maximum amount of distribution of earnings to be treated as a tax-deductible expense, JLF decided to distribute to unitholders the full amount of net income excluding fractions below one yen of the amount of dividends per investment unit. As a result, JLF's dividend per investment unit was 4,048 yen.

(ii) Outlook for the Next Fiscal Period

A. Recognition of the Environment

The Japanese economy is expected to maintain a moderate growth trend, along with a recovery in exports when overseas economies rebound from stagnation, due to strong domestic demand based largely on a gradual increase in capital expenditure backed by growth in domestic corporate earnings, particularly in non-manufacturing industries, and growing personal spending associated with steady improvement in employment and personal income. However, the economic slowdown in China and other emerging and resource-rich countries, the Brexit issue in the U.K., trends in the U.S. economy, geopolitical risks, and other risks that may significantly affect the Japanese economy, and thus must be continuously monitored.

In the logistics facilities market, the new supply of properties, particularly in the Tokyo metropolitan area, continues at a high level against the backdrop of the strong willingness of investors in Japan and abroad to invest, and development has been expanding to new areas where there was no real concentration of distribution facilities in the past. While the overall demand for large logistics facilities remains strong, those in some new areas need time before tenants can be decided or are forced to ease the lease terms, which raises the vacancy rate of the entire greater Tokyo area and prevents an increase in the level of real rent. JLF believes that it is now more important than ever to estimate the factors that affect cash flow stability such as property locations, building specifications, and lease agreement.

In this environment, JLF will build a framework that will enable it to respond accurately to future changes in the financial and real estate markets in order to achieve "Stable + Growth 2.0," while at the same time aiming for sustainable external growth through the acquisition of property at an "appropriate price" that JLF considers.

B. Future Asset Management Policies and Issues to be Addressed

In such an investment environment, JLF will pursue asset management aimed at achieving stable earnings over the medium to long term based on the following policies.

(a) Operational management of portfolio properties

• Leasing management

In renewing existing lease contracts, JLF will seek ways to ensure a stable revenue flow, including promoting the option of shifting to a long-term lease contract. When a tenant decides to move out JLF will perform leasing activities based on this policy so that leases are maintained without any discontinuity and revenues are secured by leveraging its sponsor network, intermediary companies well versed in logistics properties and in tenant information for respective regions, as well as the network of the asset management company.

The properties currently held by JLF have an average leasing period of 6.7 years when calculated on a weighted average basis using annual rent, indicating that JLF will continue to earn stable income.

• Strengthening of tenant relations

JLF will promote the improvement of the overall satisfaction level of tenants by maintaining close contact with existing tenants. Specifically, JLF responds to tenant's needs for expanding rental space and improving the property conditions of existing logistics facilities, making functional improvements in line with the needs of tenants and the industry and implementing renewals.

• Appropriate property maintenance and additional investment

JLF conducts repairs and renovations of properties owned by keeping related costs at a certain level. In addition, JLF strives to maintain an optimal level of maintenance management of its properties by selecting appropriate property management companies that can provide efficient management in line with the characteristics of each property, improving the management quality of the asset management company, and standardizing various procedures.

Furthermore, JLF considers additional investments if necessary, taking into consideration tenant requests, the leasing needs of facilities, floor area ratios, and other factors in determining portfolio properties that have locational advantages in the leasing market and those that can gain higher competitiveness through building/facility renewal while identifying properties that no longer offer economic benefits due to the increased maintenance cost burden caused by deterioration over time.

(b) Acquisition of new properties

- Sourcing of property information

Unlike other asset types, logistics properties have limited transaction volumes in the market. Therefore, JLF believes that collecting a broad range of information and making precise investment decisions based on the information gathered lead to achieve high competitiveness. In order to avoid unnecessary price competition, JLF will work to obtain early access to property information and promote negotiated transactions by leveraging the extensive networks of sponsors and the information sourcing channels of the asset management company.

- Specifications of properties for acquisition

When acquiring properties, JLF will make investment decisions with a focus on the location and versatility of properties which are essential factors in pursuing stable and long-term management of logistics properties. As a general rule, JLF avoids acquiring, in particular, properties with unique structural and facility features that suit only certain types of tenants in certain industries. Rather, JLF's most important criterion for making investment decisions is versatility of specifications that can satisfy broad logistical demand.

- Diversification of portfolio

To minimize fluctuations in revenue arising from factors such as a tenant's request to lower rent or a tenant moving out of a property, JLF acquires properties that will help reduce risk of over-concentration of tenants by avoiding excessive dependency on single tenant or industry of tenants and diversifying lease period expirations.

(c) Financial strategy

- JLF sets its highest priority on the sustainable growth of dividends per unit while making sure to maintain a conservative interest-bearing debt ratio in pursuing financial activities, including raising funds through bank loans and increasing capital through public offerings. When pursuing interest-bearing debt financing, JLF will diversify funding sources and repayment due dates. Furthermore, with regard to tenant leasehold and security deposits, JLF will use such deposits to partially fund property acquisitions to exercise efficient cash management.

[Financial Instruments]

(i) Matters concerning the status of financial instruments

A. Policies on financial instruments

JLF procures funds mainly by additionally issuing investment units, borrowing funds, or issuing investment corporation bonds for the purpose of securing funds required for acquisition of assets and repair of assets, payments of dividends, and operation of JLF or repayment of debts.

When procuring funds through interest-bearing debt, JLF comprehensively takes into account the conditions in the capital market and the financial environment, the capital structure of JLF and lease terms with tenants, impact on the existing unitholders, and other factors, expects the future changes in economic and social conditions, and selects an effective means of procuring funds in terms of long or short loan periods and fixed or variable interest rates.

JLF uses derivative transactions for the purpose of hedging interest rate fluctuation risk and other risks and does not enter into derivative transactions for speculative or trading purpose.

JLF invests surplus funds in securities and monetary claims with a focus on safety and liquidity, and does not engage into speculative investment.

B. Description of financial instruments and associated risks, and the risk management system

Deposits are one means of investing the surplus funds of JLF and are exposed to credit risk such as the bankruptcy of deposit financial institutions. JLF works to mitigate credit risk by shortening the period of deposits and dealing with deposit financial institutions with high credit ratings.

Investment securities are the equity interests in the silent partnership, and are exposed to credit risks of the silent partnership as well as to price fluctuation risk of the real estate market. JLF tries to reduce these risks by monitoring the financial status of the silent partnership and environment of the real estate market.

Loans payable and investment corporation bonds are used primarily for acquisition of assets and repayments of debts, and are exposed to liquidity risk at the time of repayment/redemption. JLF strives to mitigate liquidity risk by diversifying lenders, repayment periods, and means of funds procurement and by securing liquidity on hand by setting commitment lines and manages liquidity risk by preparing cash flow management sheet and other methods.

As some loans are borrowed on variable interest rates, they are exposed to the risk of higher interest payment. JLF works to mitigate the risk of higher interest payment by maintaining a lower interest-bearing debt ratio as well as heightening the ratio of loan with long-term fixed interest rate.

Variable interest rate borrowings are exposed to the risk of interest rate fluctuations. Derivative transactions are used to hedge the risk of fluctuations in the interest rate payable for a portion of the borrowings. See “(v) Hedge accounting method” above under “Summary of Significant Accounting Policies” for details about the hedging method, hedged items, hedging policy, and method of assessing hedge effectiveness, etc. in hedge accounting.

C. Description of financial instruments

Fair value of financial instruments comprises value based on market prices or rationally calculated value in the case the market prices are not available. As certain assumptions are applied in performing calculation of such value, the value may differ if different assumptions are used. In addition, the contract value of derivative transactions, which is presented in the following section entitled “Notes to Derivatives” is not an exact representation of market risk attributable to derivative transactions.

(ii) Matters concerning fair value, etc. of financial instruments

Total liabilities	71,700,000	73,891,842	2,191,842
Derivative transactions	-	-	-

(Note 1) Matters concerning the method of calculating the market value of financial instruments and derivative transactions.

Assets

(1)Cash and deposits, (2) Cash and deposits in trust

The fair value of these is presented same as the book value, as they are settled in the short term period and accordingly fair value is almost equal to book value.

Liabilities

(1)Current portion of long-term loans payable, (3) Long-term loans payable

The fair value is calculated by discounting principal and interest at a rate to be applied when same amounts of loans are newly borrowed. (Regarding the long-term loans that are hedged by the interest rate swaps, the fair value is calculated by discounting principal and interest at a rate to be applied when same amounts of loans are newly borrowed. Because the interest rate swaps for special treatment are treated together with the long-term borrowings to be hedged, the principal includes the market value of the swaps.)

(2) Investment corporation bond

- (Note 3) Appraisal value at end of period indicates appraisal value calculated based on the balance sheet date defined by Tanizawa Sōgō Appraisal Co., Ltd., Daiwa Real Estate Appraisal Co., Ltd. and Japan Real Estate Institute as the date of value estimate in accordance with the asset evaluation methods and standards specified under the Articles of Incorporation of JLF as well as the rules set forth by the Investment Trusts Association, Japan.
- (Note 4) % of the portfolio represents the ratio of the acquisition price of each piece of real estate, etc. to the total acquisition price of real estate, etc. owned by JLF, and is indicated by rounding off to the first decimal place.
- (Note 5) The figure is calculated by deducting 603 million yen of write-off cost of the former building from the acquisition price stated in the initial sales contract of 2,266 million yen, and adding 6,230 million yen stated in the construction contract relating to the Building (including the construction contract for additional works).

(Note 1) The total leasable area is the registered floor area less any area of space not considered for rent. With regard to items for which a more accurate leasable area can be confirmed based on the building floor plan attached to the lease contract, the area recognized to be leasable is indicated as per such floor plan. For Kashiwa Logistics Center II (land) and Kasugai Logistics Center (land), the leasable area of land indicated in the lease contracts is provided. The same applies for each description under "5. Reference Information".

(Note 2) The leased area represents the total area as part of the total leasable area of the area of the building (or land) indicated in the lease contract of each properties. It is possible in each lease contract that the portion not included in the leasable area is part of the area for rent concerning the building provided in the lease contract. The same applies for each description under "5. Reference Information."

(Note 3) As for the PML (Probable Maximum Loss) figures, Shimizu Corporation has prepared an earthquake risk research report with regard to portfolio properties owned by JLF. Such report, however, does not guarantee the contents provided and simply reflects the opinion of the research institution. PML is the projected loss ratio in an earthquake. While no consistent, clear definition of PML is available, it is the ratio of projected loss amount against building replacement cost for which the loss value and the probability rate against large and small earthquakes that could possibly occur in a period of 475 years were computed and statistically applied. The calculations are performed based on onsite research on each respective property, assessment of building status, checking consistency with the floor plan, ground conditions at each site, regional factors, and structural conditions. Loss herein refers to physical damage only, and does not take into consideration secondary damage to people's lives and other facilities in the vicinity. Damage factors include structural damage and internal and external physical damage, and do not consider fire on site caused by an earthquake or fire spreading from another facility.

(Note 4) Earthquake insurance is secured as the PML value exceeds 20%.

(Note 5) Figures for co-ownership are indicated.

(Note 6) As the lease agreement with the tenant of the land expired on November 30, 2015, JLF has launched the redevelopment project to construct a new building.

(Note 7) On May 31, 2016, JLF concluded an acquisition contract of the building to be constructed on the land. JLF also concluded a loan for use of the land with Yano General Construction Co., Ltd.

(iii) Diversification of portfolio

Diversification of portfolio properties owned by JLF is described below.

A. Ratio by region

Region	Total leasable area (m ²)	Ratio (%) (Note)	Acquisition price (Millions of yen)	Ratio (%) (Note)
Tokyo Metropolitan Area	762,095.25	69.3	166,749	78.4
Kinki/Chubu/Kyushu Areas	281,105.95	25.6	35,119	16.5

(Note) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

B. Ratio by total rentable area (Note 1)

Total rentable area (m ²)	Number of properties	Ratio (%) (Note 2)	Acquisition price (Millions of yen)	Ratio (%) (Note 2)
Over 30,000 m ²	16	38.1	136,998	64.4
Over 10,000 m ² but 30,000 m ² or less	16	38.1	59,883	28.2
10,000 m ² or less	10	23.8	15,722	7.4
Total	42	100.0	212,603	100.0

(Note 1) Properties are classified based on total rentable area (100% of total leasable area with respect to co-owned properties) and their portfolio proportions are indicated.

(Note 2) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

C. Ratio by leasehold period

Leasehold period (Residual period)	Leased area (m ²)	Ratio (%) (Note 1)	Annual rent (Millions of Yen) (Note 2)	Ratio (%) (Note 1)
Over 10 years	201,164.79	18.6	2,157	14.9
Over 5 years but within 10 years	456,500.82	42.3	6,735	46.4
Over 3 years but within 5 years	126,813.02	11.7	1,753	12.1
Within 3 years	295,613.75	27.4	3,873	26.7
Total	1,080,092.38	100.0	14,520	100.0

(Note 1) Figures are rounded off to the first decimal place.

(Note 2) Annual rent represents either annual rent in the lease contract or monthly rent in the lease contract times 12. If the property has multiple tenants, the number is the sum of the all contracts.

(iv) Performance of portfolio properties

The following provides a summary of performance for the 22nd Period of real estate, etc. owned by JLF.

The "performance data" for each piece of real estate, etc. provide the following.

- The amounts indicated under "Performance data" are not intended to provide or guarantee future values.
- Amounts are presented with figures below one million yen omitted, and are posted on an accrual basis in principle.
- "Real estate leasing business revenue" includes rent, common area maintenance fees, and income from parking charges, utilities expenses, and other.
- "Taxes and public dues" includes property tax and city planning tax. As a general rule, the obligation to pay property tax and city planning tax comes into effect on January 1 of each year. Such tax payments, however, are not posted as real estate leasing business expenses, as JLF, when settling property and city planning taxes incurred at the time of property acquisition, includes the amount settled as part of the acquisition cost.
- "Repair expenses" may vary when JLF holds properties for a long period of time as such expenses differ from period to period, and, by nature, do not arise on a regular basis.
- "Insurance expenses" posted represents the portion of casualty insurance corresponding to the respective period.
- "Other expenses" includes trust fees.
